Introduction

Characters cope with being thrust into new circumstances

Plot and subplots continue to build, piling on the pressure for our characters

The crisis is passing, plans come to fruition, the journey for our characters is complete

Expose problems, what event sets characters on their journey? Call to action - how do the characters propose to deal with their problems? Decisions are made.

Let the games begin!

All is in turmoil, and seems lost. There may be false victory or a defeat, but hold on, the resolution is coming. Fight.

Plan of attack, the final push, success, and the resolution. A new place to begin again is reached
